The organization's story and past experiences:

Brief description of the organization:

Ilk Sen Ol Youth Movement Association was established in Istanbul in 2019. Our association, which aims to spread the awareness of social responsibility, sports, art, culture, cooperation and solidarity, especially among young people, has been producing projects suitable for this purpose since the day it was founded. With our projects, we act with the vision of civil society by encouraging young people to participate in social life and to be a part of the solution, not the problem.

Our association also aims to help young people gain experience and awareness in this field by organizing humanitarian aid activities. By encouraging young people to be active in all processes of humanitarian aid, we offer them the opportunity to be the hand that gives them and to be instrumental in good and beautiful. We want our young people to have a sense of responsibility, to be sensitive people and to contribute to the solution.

Our association, which puts forward projects that encourage individuals to participate in active life through sports, also uses sports as a tool for cultural sharing. We aim to introduce young people to sports, to stay away from harmful habits with sports, and to become self-confident individuals through sports.

By encouraging their participation in social life, we encourage them to offer solutions to the problem and encourage them in this regard. We support the right of young people to express themselves and open spaces for them to express themselves in different ways such as sports, art and culture. We prepare projects on this subject and involve young people.

We want young people to have a culture of living together regardless of language, religion or race. We emphasize that human identity should be prioritized, not different identities, and aim to raise awareness in this regard.

Although most of our activities are based in Istanbul, we work in different parts of Turkey and the world. Our activities include young people in particular and all individuals in general, regardless of religion, language or race.

Our association attaches great importance to the principles of respect for human rights, especially human dignity, freedom, democracy, equality and the rule of law, and carries out projects in line with these principles.

We produce projects in order to ensure that young people adopt the sports culture and have this awareness nationally and internationally.
